GMG Community School District, IA Series 2025 GO School Bonds Assigned 'A' Rating; Outlook Is Stable

August 26, 2025

Overview

- S&P Global Ratings assigned its 'A' rating to GMG Community School District (CSD), Iowa's roughly $10 million series 2025 general obligation (GO) school bonds.
- The outlook is stable.

Rationale

Security

The bonds are secured by the district's unlimited ad valorem tax GO pledge. Voters approved $12.3 million in debt in 2024, and this is the first issuance, with the remainder to be issued in 2026. Proceeds will be used to add academic spaces to existing facilities.

Credit highlights

The rating reflects the district's recent deficits and low reserve position, which we expect will improve in the near term, as well as its more limited economic metrics and increasing debt burden.

Recent significant operating deficits in 2023 and 2024 caused reserves to decline to 3% of revenues. In fiscal 2025, the district implemented expenditure cuts, including position reductions and sharing of the superintendent position with a neighboring district, and began using the cash reserve levy. With these measures, management expects reserves will increase to $750,000, or approximately 11% of revenues, in 2025 and $950,000, or approximately 14% of revenues, in 2026. With the continued use of the cash reserve levy, we expect reserves will improve to a level comparable with those of peers.

Recent deficits were due to declining enrollment, an inability to access the cash reserve levy, and turnover in key personnel. Enrollment is a key generator of state education funding in lowa, with increases or decreases affecting revenue. In fiscal 2024, the number of total students served, which includes open enrolled students, decreased by 3% from 2023, reflecting a total 6%

Chicago 1-312-233-7056 blake.yocom @spglobal.com decrease since fiscal 2021. While enrollment has stabilized at 448 total students served, management expects they will continue to see modest declines, with 424 students projected in 2029. We expect this is likely given the declining population trend in the district and in Tama County, where the district is primarily located, which is projected to lose 4% of its population in the next 10 years.

The rating reflects our view of the district's:

- Rural agricultural economy, resulting in a gross county product that lags the national average, with a population of less than 5,000. The top 10 taxpayers represent 33% of the tax base and, while this concentration presents potential risk, it is partially mitigated as the top taxpayer's operations are primarily focused on wind-based power generation, which we view as more stable. Also, the district's local incomes are a strength relative to peers, supporting the current rating.
- Reserves, which are currently well below peers and management's informal reserve target of 10%-15%, though we expect reserves will return to compliance with this target, based on projections.
- · Realistic budgeting practices, with regular budget monitoring as management provides monthly budget-to-actual reports to the board. The district also forecasts revenues, expenditures, and the fund balance for multiple years, and discusses with the school board and maintains a three-year capital plan that is updated annually, as well as formal debt and investment policies. Its cybersecurity practices align with those of peers.
- Increased debt per capita and costs of debt and liabilities, though we expect costs will remain below 20% of revenues with the current issuance. Overall, we expect the debt burden will be manageable with the full issuance of the $12.3 million voter-approved debt.
- For more information, see "Institutional Framework Assessment: Iowa Local Governments," Sept. 9, 2024.

Environmental, social, and governance

We view the district's environmental, social, and governance credit factors as neutral within our credit rating analysis.

Outlook

The stable outlook reflects our expectation that the district will achieve at least break-even results in most years and maintain reserves in accordance with its fund balance target.

Downside scenario

We could lower the rating if financial performance does not improve, according to management's projections, and reserves remain thin.

Upside scenario

We could raise the rating if the district increases and maintains reserves at levels commensurate with those of higher-rated peers, if the debt burden moderates on a per capita basis, and if the economy expands, leading to stronger economic metrics.

The ratings appearing below the new issues represent an aggregation of debt issues (ASID) associated with related maturities. The maturities similarly reflect our opinion about the creditworthiness of the U.S. Public Finance obligor's legal pledge for payment of the financial obligation. Nevertheless, these maturities may have different credit ratings than the rating presented next to the ASID depending on whether or not additional legal pledge(s) support the specific maturity's payment obligation, such as credit enhancement, as a result of defeasance, or other factors.

No content (including ratings, credit-related analyses and data, valuations, model, software or other application or output therefrom) or any part thereof (Content) may be modified, reverse engineered, reproduced or distributed in any form by any means, or stored in a database or retrieval system, without the prior written permission of Standard & Poor's Financial Services LLC or its affiliates (collectively, S&P). The Content shall not be used for any unlawful or unauthorized purposes. S&P and any third-party providers, as well as their directors, officers, shareholders, employees or agents (collectively S&P Parties) do not guarantee the accuracy, completeness, timeliness or availability of the Content. S&P Parties are not responsible for any errors or omissions (negligent or otherwise), regardless of the cause, for the results obtained from the use of the Content, or for the security or maintenance of any data input by the user. The Content is provided on an "as is" basis. S&P PARTIES DISCLAIM ANY AND ALL EXPRESS OR IMPLIED WARRANTIES, INCLUDING, BUT NOT LIMITED TO, ANY WARRANTIES OF MERCHANTABILITY OR FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE OR USE, FREEDOM FROM BUGS, SOFTWARE ERRORS OR DEFECTS, THAT THE CONTENT'S FUNCTIONING WILL BE UNINTERRUPTED OR THAT THE CONTENT WILL OPERATE WITH ANY SOFTWARE OR HARDWARE CONFIGURATION. In no event shall S&P Parties be liable to any party for any direct, incidental, exemplary, compensatory, punitive, special or consequential damages, costs, expenses, legal fees, or losses (including, without limitation, lost income or lost profits and opportunity costs or losses caused by negligence) in connection with any use of the Content even if advised of the possibility of such damages.

Some of the Content may have been created with the assistance of an artificial intelligence (AI) tool. Published Content created or processed using AI is composed, reviewed, edited, and approved by S&P personnel.

Credit-related and other analyses, including ratings, and statements in the Content are statements of opinion as of the date they are expressed and not statements of fact. S&P's opinions, analyses and rating acknowledgment decisions (described below) are not recommendations to purchase, hold, or sell any securities or to make any investment decisions, and do not address the suitability of any security. S&P assumes no obligation to update the Content following publication in any form or format. The Content should not be relied on and is not a substitute for the skill, judgment and experience of the user, its management, employees, advisors and/or clients when making investment and other business decisions. S&P does not act as a fiduciary or an investment advisor except where registered as such. While S&P has obtained information from sources it believes to be reliable, S&P does not perform an audit and undertakes no duty of due diligence or independent verification of any information it receives. Rating-related publications may be published for a variety of reasons that are not necessarily dependent on action by rating committees, including, but not limited to, the publication of a periodic update on a credit rating and related analyses.

To the extent that regulatory authorities allow a rating agency to acknowledge in one jurisdiction a rating issued in another jurisdiction for certain regulatory purposes, S&P reserves the right to assign, withdraw or suspend such acknowledgment at any time and in its sole discretion. S&P Parties disclaim any duty whatsoever arising out of the assignment, withdrawal or suspension of an acknowledgment as well as any liability for any damage alleged to have been suffered on account thereof.

S&P keeps certain activities of its business units separate from each other in order to preserve the independence and objectivity of their respective activities. As a result, certain business units of S&P may have information that is not available to other S&P business units. S&P has established policies and procedures to maintain the confidentiality of certain non-public information received in connection with each analytical process.

S&P may receive compensation for its ratings and certain analyses, normally from issuers or underwriters of securities or from obligors. S&P reserves the right to disseminate its opinions and analyses. S&P's public ratings and analyses are made available on its Web sites, www.spglobal.com/ratings (free of charge), and www.ratingsdirect.com (subscription), and may be distributed through other means, including via S&P publications and third-party redistributors. Additional information about our ratings fees is available at www.spglobal.com/usratingsfees.
